Rain, Gales Predicted As Storm Moves South

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—(UP)—A new Alaskan storm struck northern and central California today, bringing heavy snows to the mountains, rains to the valleys and strong winds along the coast.

The weather bureau predicted gales off the north coast of California. Forecaster Thomas Reed said there would be rain "today, tonight and Friday" in the Sacramento, Santa Clara, Salinas and San Joaquin valleys, in the San Francisco bay region and at lower elevations in the mountains. Snow was predicted at higher altitudes.

Sub Zero Weather
The bureau predicted continued low temperatures. Freezing and sub-freezing marks were recorded in several sections of the state. Redding reported 14 degrees, and Fresno and Sacramento both experienced freezing weather.

Orchardists in the citrus belt fired smudge pots in preparation for another drop in temperature. Many traffic accidents and delays were caused by snows which fell as far south as the Imperial valley and the Mojave desert. Three persons were missing since Sunday in the snow near Long Barn, east of Sonora, but it was believed they might be safe at a cabin along a trail.

L. A. MAN TO HEAD STATE RACE BOARD

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 2.—(UP)—Edward R. Young, Los Angeles attorney and sportsman, today held the chairmanship of the California racing board, succeeding J. Carleton Burke, who resigned.

Gov. Culbert L. Olson, in announcing Young's appointment to the important racing board post, said he also had named Claude I. Parker, Los Angeles rancher-sportsman, as a member of the board to fill a vacancy created by resignation of Samuel M. Hawkins.

Actor Named
Another major commission membership went to Movie Actor Melvyn Douglas, who was appointed to the state relief commission and state welfare board, replacing Frank B. Gigliotti of La Mesa.

Governor Olson described Young as a "man of highest character," whose place as a member of the state bar is "generally recognized." He was educated in Los Angeles public schools and is a former Los Angeles assistant city attorney and water board member. Parker, Olson said, is a former United States internal revenue collector who now maintains a stable of trained saddle horses on his ranch.

Bourbon Leader
"Neither of these gentlemen is interested in race horses, but they are familiar with horse breeding."

Douglas, Governor Olson said, was a leader in the motion picture Democratic committee during the last campaign. He said the movie star has studied relief and unemployment problems with various California congressmen and has been active among the movie industry's unemployed.

Mrs. Marguerite M. Clarke, former member of the Los Angeles board of education, was appointed chief of the division of industrial welfare to succeed Mrs. Mabel E. Kinney, whose term expired. The position pays $4000 a year.

The assistant directorship of the relief administration for Los Angeles county went to Kathryn H. Kilbourne of Los Angeles on recommendation of State Relief Administrator H. Dewey Anderson, Governor Olson announced. Mrs. Kilbourne, described as a "professional social worker," will have charge of social service work.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes today entered the broadening dispute over President Roosevelt's foreign policy with a statement that there is no danger of the United States becoming involved in war "under this administration."

Ickes' declaration came as the administration struck back at bitter congressional critics of possible American commitments to aid Great Britain and France against Germany or Italy.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 2.—(UP)—Gov. Culbert L. Olson today appointed S. Victor Wagner to be judge of the Alameda county superior court, succeeding Mark Lee Megladdery, resigned.

OAKLAND, Feb. 2.—(UP)—Dist. Atty. Ralph Hoyt said today Herbert Davis, executive officer of the state fish and game commission would be called to amplify his charges before the Alameda county grand jury that Mark Lee Megladdery allegedly engineered a "51-a-ton deal" for an additional sardine reduction quota.

Quits Under Fire

Accused of irregularities in office and threatened with a Senate investigation, Martin T. Manton, above, senior judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for New York, this week tendered his resignation. President Roosevelt yesterday accepted the resignation and demanded that the jurist quit his office immediately.

SAN QUENTIN FOOD STRIKERS RELENT

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Feb. 2.—(UP)—Fifteen hundred of San Quentin's 5500 convicts ended today the hunger strike that 4000 of them started yesterday against "too much hash and beans."

Warden Court Smith said the remaining 2500 strikers were kept locked in their cells and placed on bread and water rations until they change their mind.

He said the "die-hards" were declaring themselves off strike at the date of "scores every hour." He expected the strike to be over within 24 hours.

"Three hundred strikers changed their minds when we made a cell by cell pull before breakfast," Warden Smith said. "A few hours later the total reached 1500."

"Three thousand convicts marched into the mess hall for breakfast—some of them for late breakfast—then went to their assigned tasks throughout the prison."

"Everything is orderly. There was no booing or yelling." Strikers who changed their minds succumbed to a breakfast that featured coffee with cream and sugar as an added attraction, and to the threat that strikers would be put on bread and water.

Real Groundhog Day For County Grand Jury

It was "groundhog" day with the county grand jury today as it held a general session to hear from District Attorney George Holden a report of his investigation into official expenditures of former District Attorney W. F. Menton.

If Holden's report should cast a "shadow" on the Menton case, it was believed likely that the grand jury would "go back into its hole" for further consideration of the ex-district attorney's affairs, which include depletion of his secret fund for investigation.

But if Holden gives Menton a clean bill of health to the inquisitorial body, it was understood that the grand jury would prepare for immediate conclusion of its official existence and shortly file its report.

QUIZ SOLON ON PENSIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (UP)—Rep. Harry R. Sheppard, D., Calif., told the House ways and means committee today that a two per cent gross income tax proposed in the general welfare federation pension plan would produce annual revenue of $7,000,000.

Testifying at hearings on proposals to revise and broaden present social security laws, Sheppard, House floor leader for the federation's "60 at 60" plan, said such a tax would have produced $7,247,340,000 on basis of national income in 1936.

Survival of Fittest
Rep. Robert Doughton, D. N. C., who as chairman of the House ways and means committee is an outstanding Congressional fiscal expert, questioned Sheppard closely. He asked whether the tax might mean bankruptcy for many businesses operating on a small margin of profit.

"It all depends on the survival of the fittest," Sheppard replied. Under questioning by Reps. Frank H. Buck, D., Calif., and John W. McCormack, D., Mass., Sheppard said he formerly was Congressional floor leader for the Townsend organization but split with that group because of "conduct by the national leader and certain leaders in its national offices in Chicago which proved to me that the organization was not functioning on what I analyzed as an honest basis."

"Not Sales Tax"
Buck asked if the gross income tax "really wouldn't be a kind of glorified multiple sales tax falling principally on consumers with low incomes?"

"That is a matter of opinion,"

Scripps newspapers in Santa Ana, Ventura, Santa Paula and Watsonville, and while he still retains a stock interest he no longer is associated with the management of the group.

Previously he was publisher of the Alhambra Post-Advocate, one of Col. Ira Copley's Southern California newspapers. His first interest in newspapers started while serving as private secretary to the late E. W. Scripps, founder of the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

'Meanest Thief' Sought in S. A.

Santa Ana's "meanest thief" yesterday stole all of the wealth of an eighty-year-old crippled woman when she left her home, 315 South Shelton, for the first time in four months to go shopping downtown.

Mrs. Ada Trefren, the victim, was shopping with her husband, Fred Trefren, in a downtown department store when she left her purse, containing a $35 Old Age Pension check and $40 cash, on a counter. The thief made off with it, according to reports to police.

Mrs. Trefren has a broken arm and has been unable to leave home for a long time while her husband is suffering from injured back.

It was reported the $35 check cannot be replaced even if it is stopped at the bank. The Trefrens were sent to the county welfare department to get aid. The $35 check was a county warrant No. 21003.

RUSSIA, HUNGARY IN BREAK

MOSCOW, Feb. 2.—(UP)—An official announcement today said the Soviet Union had severed diplomatic relations with Hungary.

The action was taken because of Hungary's adherence to the anti-Communist accord among Germany, Italy and Japan, the announcement said.

Solons Rap Discrimination In Plane Sales To Foreign Powers

MILLION DOLLAR SILVER VEIN DISCOVERED NEAR SILVERADO

Uncovering of a vein of silver in an abandoned mine at the head of Modjeska canyon, between Silverado and Trabuco that has an estimated $1,000,000 of free silver was reported her today by John Granath, 58-year-old prospector.

Granath, who lives on North Main street, opposite St. Joseph hospital, said that the assay report on the vein showed it to be a silver-bearing ore of 150,000 in silver and 30 men were employed in the work.

Spent Fortunes
Granath, a prospector who has been seeking precious metals all over North America for the past 35 years, today told The Register that he has "run through" four fortunes that totaled $85,000 and "that this time he aims to keep it."

Walter S. Morrow, who owned the property previously to the investment company's purchase died here a year and a half ago without ever realizing anything from the mine except $20,000 he was paid at the time of the first operations more than a score of years ago. Granath and his partner have planned to send the crude ore to a smelter in Hayden, Ariz.

In addition to the 15 per cent royalty the two miners must pay to the investment company $20,000 for the mine out of the earnings of the venture during the first three years of production. The vein uncovered by the miners is three feet wide and nearly 500 feet deep and is estimated to contain hundreds of tons of crude ore.

TEXAS QUADRUPLTS SURPRISE PARENTS; NAMES ARE SELECTED

GALVESTON, Texas, Feb. 2.—(UP)—The Badgett babies, quadruplets, received their names today, but not without some "heavy thinking" by their surprised parents.

"When we found there were going to be perhaps three of them," said the father, W. Ellis Badgett, 35, a construction foreman, "we just held up on the names. We couldn't very well select names until we found out whether they were going to be sons or daughters."

They are all girls. After discussing the problem with his happy wife, Esther, 36, Badgett announced the babies' names as Geraldine, Jeannette, Joyce and Joan. The other Badgett children are Geneva, 15, and Elsie, 13.

The quadruplets, who arrived yesterday, were in perfect health, as was their mother. She, however, was given a stimulant, and a blood transfusion by her mother, Mrs. C. L. Harper, of Corpus Christi.

Two of the babies are brown-eyed, two blue-eyed. They weighed at birth from three pounds 13 ounces to four pounds nine and one-half ounces. Their total weight was 16 pounds, two and one-half ounces.

The Badgetts are not surprised at prospect of multiple birth. Such births occurred in both families. Mrs. Badgett has a twin sister, Mrs. Ethel Richardson, Corpus Christi; Badgett had twin brothers.

BORAH STILL CONFINED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(UP)—The condition of Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, 73-year-old dean of the Senate, was reported "about the same" today at emergency hospital where he was ill with gripe. His illness was not considered critical.

The man she described as her assailant is five feet, four inches tall, weighs about 135 pounds, is 21 to 25 years old, and was wearing dark hat, light, dirty jacket and dark trousers and needed a shave. "He acted like it was his first holdup," the victim said.

DUCE BLASTS U. S. POLICY

ROME, Feb. 2.—(UP)—The "defensive frontiers" of the German-Italian axis must extend "to the Panama canal" as a result of the policies of President Roosevelt, the authoritative Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, declared today.

Writing in the Giornale D'Italia which often speaks for Premier Benito Mussolini, the editor said that the extension of the Nazi Fascist defense front must result from the reported statement of President Roosevelt implying that France is the American defense front.

Lead to War
Mr. Roosevelt's stand was "premeditated provocation," Gayda charged.

"We do not know what sudden aberration of the mind caused Mr. Roosevelt to make such a declaration before the Senate military committee, but it certainly exploded in the very midst of attempts by European statesmen of good will to save the peace," he wrote. "These declarations appear premeditated and leading to open provocation of war."

FDR 'Aggressive'
"Mr. Roosevelt openly takes an aggressive attitude against Italy and Germany."

HOUSE SENDS HUGE WPA BILL TO FOR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(UP)—The House today gave final approval to the $725,000,000 relief appropriation bill and sent it to the White House for Presidential signature.

The House agreed to elimination of its amendment which would have prohibited wage differential of more than 25 per cent between north and south WPA workers. The clause was eliminated by the Senate.

Earlier, the House had adopted the conference report on the controversial measure, designed to eliminate political activity from relief administration, by a voice vote.

New Deal Defeat
The House agreed to elimination of the wage differential amendment by a vote of 252 to 140, after an hour's debate during which southern congressmen urged that the amendment be retained.

The appropriation, to finance relief until the fiscal year ends next June 30, is $150,000,000 less than was recommended by President Roosevelt. The recommendation first was cut by the House and sustained by a 47-46 senate vote in the administration's first major defeat of the 76th Congress.

Faces Court In Gasoline Case

The second prosecution in Orange county, and believed to be second in the state as well, under the new state gasoline substitution law, was instituted in Anaheim justice court today by state authorities, complaint being filed against M. M. Stewart, operator of a service station at 101 highway and Katella road, Anaheim.

Stewart is accused of selling gasoline at a price different than the price posted on his gas pumps an offense for which another Anaheim service station operator recently was fined.

State authorities enforcing the act stated that Orange county dealers apparently have gained belief that there is no enforcement of the act. This error, they said, apparently was based on the agreement in Los Angeles courts that no prosecutions would be started in that county while Judge Emmett Wilson has under consideration a petition by Los Angeles dealers to prohibit enforcement of the act.

The agreement, however, applied to Los Angeles county only.

California Farm Legislation Covers Wide Range

COUNTY LEADER RECEIVES WORD

A wide range of subjects is covered in legislation presented at the recently closed session of the state legislature by the California Farm Bureau federation, according to information received by S. W. Stanley, chairman of the legislative committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau, from E. C. Kimball, vice president of the federation.

Governmental service and taxation are covered by the presentation of a bill on hospitalization designed to improve conditions of the former class; for repeal of the minimum franchise and corporation taxes to cover the cost of operation, and for repeal of the school tax law of 1927, which set a five per cent limit on increase in budgets.

Seek Amendments
Concerning transportation and utilities, bills have been presented to repeal or amend the present payment of railroad commission salaries from gross receipts of the division, and to repeal sections 134 and 324 of the Public Utilities act which refers to railroad and truck rates. The effect of the present laws has been to make the commission level up the rates to the high cost operators rather than to the low cost operators, according to Kimball.

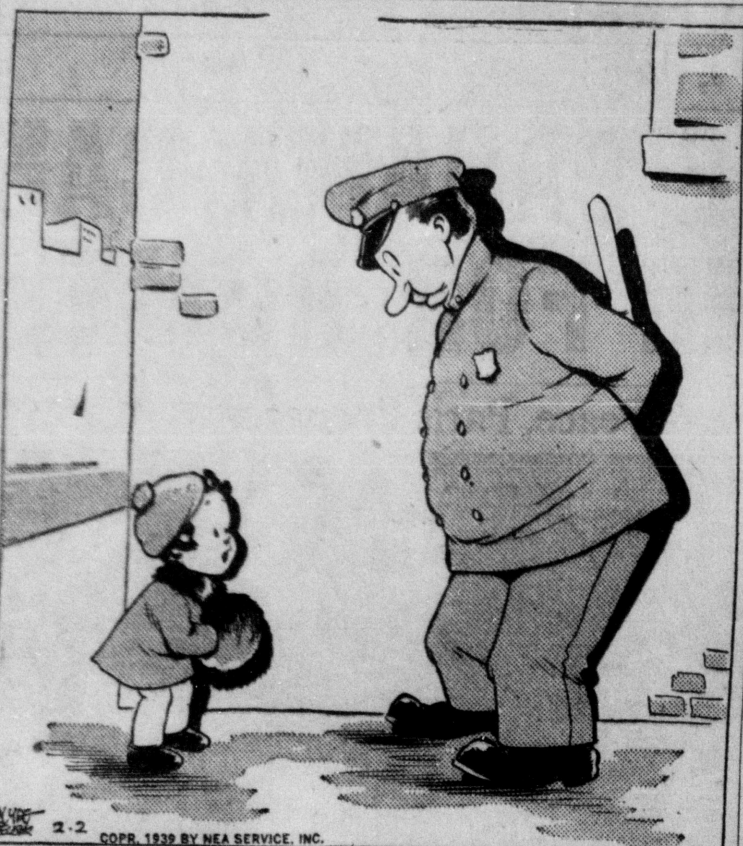

Standardization laws would be changed through the introduction of bills designed to set standards on dried fruit, poultry meats and prunes and through the amendment of the present egg standards law.

Would Audit Accounts
Marketing bills include one to provide for auditing of the accounts of processors, amending the Produce Dealers' act to secure names and address of all buyers paying cash, amend Co-operative Marketing act to limit it strictly

NEW-FANGLED HORNS LEGAL IF USED BY DRIVERS AS WARNING

If you hear what you believe to be a coyote howling to the moon some dark and gloomy night and discover the annoying noise is a new-fangled automobile horn being sounded by some motorist, you might just as well imagine yourself out in the hills a few rods from a howling coyote.

There's no law requiring a motorist to stop blowing his horn provided he does it in the course of his driving, as a warning signal.

Annoyed By Noise
That was the report from Capt. H. C. Meehan, head of the California Highway patrol in Orange county, today, following receipt of a letter from an annoyed Californian. The woman writes: "Late I have been annoyed by some new type of automobile horn which wails like a cold and hungry dog late at night. It is a long, terrifying sound. Isn't there some relief somewhere against such needlessly loud and annoying things on motor cars?"

"Horns on motor cars must be loud enough to be heard at a distance of not less than 200 feet," the captain stated. "However, the law does not state that a horn shall not emit an unreasonably loud or harsh sound."

Other Questions
Two other questions submitted by motorists, with answers by Captain Meehan, are presented: Q.—Are metal tires still allowed on motor vehicles? A.—Yes, but the speed of such vehicles is limited to six miles per hour. Q.—Near where I live there is a narrow paved road which, in wet weather, becomes slippery. One of the neighbors habitually parks his car in

Directors Of Seven Drainage Districts Elected

WAR ON NOXIOUS WEEDS OPENS AS BUREAU ACTS ON MEASURE

A resolution asking the state and county to keep vacant land and roadways free of obnoxious weeds was passed at a meeting of directors of the bean department of the Orange County Farm bureau yesterday. The resolution was submitted to directors of the bureau at their meeting today.

Since farmers of Orange county are working to keep their fields free of noxious weeds, they feel the state and county should do the same with vacant land and roads under their control, the resolution stated. The directors expressed their willingness to cooperate in enforcing the laws concerning noxious weeds under that condition.

State regulations concerning the disposal of bean cleanings which contain noxious weed seeds were outlined by D. W. Tubbs, county agricultural commissioner. At the request of the bean directors, Tubbs' office will send a letter to bean growers of the county outlining in detail the state law governing the handling of bean cleanings or screenings. The letter is expected to dispel some of the misunderstanding prevalent in the county relative to the growers' privileges, bean directors stated.

Chairman Ivan Harper appointed an executive committee composed of Thomas Van Talbert Jr., Talbert; Walter Pollard, Irvine; Lester E. Barry, Smeltzer; Wal-

City Employees Will Meet Today

Today at 7:30 p. m., the City Employees association will hold its first meeting since election of 1939 officers, according to the new secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Gladys Kilkenny, and will be entertained with presentation of a motion picture, "Underground Raindrops," by Harold J. Dobler of United States Electric Motors, Inc., Los Angeles.

The picture will tell the story of underground water supplies. The meeting will be held in the city council chamber, preceded by an afternoon meeting at 3 o'clock of the board of directors. The new board includes officers, Gene Itiss, president; Sidney Lowry, vice president; Mrs. Kilkenny, and five directors, W. G. Secrest, Frank Chapman, W. M. Fipps, J. F. McWilliams and Lloyd Banks.

ONLY 1 CONTEST IN BALLOTING

Directors of seven drainage districts of Orange county were selected at elections held yesterday. The only contest occurred in division one of the Talbert Drainage district, Earl Gardner, a director for 21 years, being defeated by George A. Harding, 35 to 16 votes.

In division three of the same district, Allen T. Gisler was elected without opposition, receiving eight votes. Tom P. Gisler is the other member of the board.

Taylor Elected

Division one of the Newport Drainage district elected Archie W. Taylor as director to succeed J. E. Brown, who was not a candidate. Other members of the board are William Lehnhardy and W. O. Eades.

In the Delhi Drainage district the three directors were re-elected. They are Nate Hughes, F. C. Matthews and D. V. Hearri.

Segerstrom Named

Division three of the Newport Drainage district named Will O. Segerstrom to succeed D. W. Ellis, who has moved out of the district. Other members of the board are A. E. Selvidge and S. H. Manderscheid.

H. B. Anderson, incumbent director for Westminster Drainage district, was re-elected for a four year term at Wednesday's election held in the No. 1 district. Nine votes were cast. The election was held at the San Pedro company's office with George Garrett, A. B. Crane and Earl Drake acting on the electionboard. Hold-over directors are Percy Lawrence and John Kettler.

Two Re-elected

Two directors of the Bolsa Drainage district, Joda Sork for precinct 1, and Emil Kettler for precinct 2, were re-elected, each to enter upon a four-year term.

In precinct one, the election was held at the Smeltzer Beach warehouse, with E. Ray Moore, J. O. Pyle and Cy Cunningham serving on the board. Five votes were cast. In precinct three, six votes were cast in the election held at Springdale school house where A. Ruoff, Lee Farrar and William Kettler served on the board. W. F. Slater is the hold-over director in precinct 2.

Ballots of the Newbert Protection district are scheduled to be counted by directors next Monday.

HUNT YOUNG MAN AS CHECK-PASSER

Orange police today are looking for a young man who passed two fictitious checks there this week. The first check was made out for $12.50 and was cashed by Ponciano Trango, 440 North Cypress street, Orange. It was made out to Earl Carlson and signed "R. L. Clinton" while a South Olive street address in Orange was given.

The second check was cashed by the Sycamore grocery in Orange by the proprietor, C. E. Snope, 223 West Sycamore street. The check was found to be worthless yesterday afternoon. It also was for $12.50 and was made out to Earl Carlson and signed by "R. E. Earlington" with a North Lemmon street in Orange given. The young man is described as five feet 10 inches tall, between 20 and 22 years of age and weight about 150 pounds.

4 Brothers To Get $25,000

The $25,000 estate left by the late Jean Lacabanne, of Huntington Beach, who died January 21 in Los Angeles, was willed equally to four brothers, a niece and nephew, some residing in Los Angeles, others in France.

This was disclosed today when the will was filed for probate in superior court by Henry Lacabanne, of Huntington Beach, a brother and only heir residing in Orange county. The estate consists of $5000 in Huntington Beach real estate and $20,000 in personal property and cash.

22 S. A. RESIDENTS ALREADY SIGNED UP FOR TRIP TO FAIR

Twenty-two Santa Ana residents have already signified their intentions of attending the opening of the Golden Gate Exposition on Saturday, Feb. 18, it was reported today by E. B. Sharpley, cavalcade chairman for the city.

At a meeting of the citizens' committee yesterday afternoon at the city hall it was decided that the local group would go in a body from Los Angeles aboard a special Southern Pacific train on the night of the 17th. Mayor Fred C. Rowland and Mrs. Rowland will be the official leaders of the group.

All Are Invited

Arrangements for making the trip are being conducted by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and every citizen of Santa Ana and Orange county is invited to attend the premier.

The committee in charge is anxious that Santa Ana have a full representation at the opening in order to carry out plans for a "Santa Ana Day" at some later date at the exposition. Hotel reservations and reservations for the train can be arranged at the Chamber of Commerce office in Santa Ana on Church street. It will not be necessary to travel by train, it was pointed out.

Set For Trek

Among those who have already indicated that they will attend the fair opening are: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Croddy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Barr, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Rolla D. Hayes, sr., Ivie Stein and Howard I. Wood. Other members of the committee present yesterday include, T. E. Stephenson, A. G. Flagg and Guy Gilbert.

DEATH BRINGS $26,739 SUIT

The death of Robert Young, first Hollywood city attorney, who was living in retirement at Laguna Beach, was made the basis of a $26,739.91 damage suit filed in superior court today by members of his family against Donald A. Harper, a minor, and his parents, Harry B. and Mona M. Harper.

Struck by Auto

Young Harper was driver of a car that struck and fatally injured Young at the intersection of Coast boulevard and Thalia street, Laguna Beach, last November 1. Young died November 24.

Mrs. Frances Upson Young, the widow, and her two children, Clarence U. Young and Mrs. Mary Y. Salazar, joined in the complaint, which asks $25,000 for medical, hospital and burial expenses. The plaintiffs claim Young had an earning capacity of $7500 per year at the time of his death.

Although the modern automobile engine is designed to utilize from 25 to 40 per cent of the power contained in gasoline, it really makes use of only 15 to 25 per cent due to faulty carburetor, valve and spark plug adjustments.

WOMAN RECOVERING AFTER OPERATION

Condition of Mrs. Yvette Coltrin, Route 2, Huntington Beach, was reported "good" today at county hospital following an operation for appendicitis last night. Hospital authorities contacted Santa Ana police when Mrs. Coltrin's condition became serious before the operation and asked them to contact Mrs. Coltrin's husband, John F. Coltrin, who was visiting his brother-in-law, Paul Phipps, Ojai, and to get his consent for the operation. Officer Charles W. Wolford contacted Sheriff L. Howard Durley, Ventura county, who obtained the consent of Coltrin and the operation was performed at once. Coltrin was to return at once to be with his wife.

ESTATE APPRAISED

An appraisal of $2250 was fixed today upon the estate of the late Ira W. Bouldin, who died March 30, 1938, by James B. Utt, state inheritance tax appraiser. The estate consists of Santa Ana real estate.

SCHMIDT WILL SUBMIT
Probate of the will of the late John M. Schmidt of Santa Ana, who died January 21, leaving a $5000 estate, was asked in a superior court petition just filed by his widow, Mrs. Mary Schmidt. The will leaves $1000 to a son, Albert, of Santa Ana, the rest to the widow.

THROUGH JOINS CHURCH EVENT

More than 350 members and friends of the First Christian and Orange Avenue Christian churches met at potluck dinner held in conjunction with a world-wide program being presented by the denomination last night. The local meeting was at the First Christian church.

At 7:15 p.m. the group heard an address by Roger T. Nooe, president of the International Convention for 1939, over the radio, and a group of vocal selections by Mrs. Charles Reign Scovell.

Knights Wins Honors
Other music for the occasion furnished by local talent included vocal selections by G. Willard Bassett; songs by a trio from the Orange Avenue church presented by Elizabeth Morgan and Lola and Dempsey Price; and violin music by Miss Marjorie Keeler. In a quiz conducted by Gerald S. Bash, pastor, T. D. Knights carried off first honors.

Local speakers who discussed "the meaning of the church" were, Dick Brown, high school student, who spoke for youth; Mrs. Mabel Morrison, who spoke of the home; and Jack Rime, who spoke for the business man. Mrs. Ethel Becker was general chairman of the affair, assisted by Mrs. D. E. Price, Henry Haskell, Mrs. Vivian Geiger and Mrs. T. D. Knights.

Solon's Kin Is Linked in Scandal

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 2.—(UP)—The government called witnesses today to link Stanley W. P. Miller, son-in-law of Senator Dennis Chavez with purported vote control through WPA jobs. Miller is one of 35 persons on trial, including the senator's sister, Mrs. Anita Tafoya, who was accused of telling sewing project women to vote for the Chavez faction.

The testimony involved activities of the Works Progress Administration assignment office, which directed employment on various projects, and the assignment clerk, Joe De Armond. The government had produced evidence that WPA timekeepers and foremen were assessed 10 percent of their salaries for the Chavez faction's campaign when U. S. Attorney Everett Grantham turned to the sewing project.

Police News

Twenty-five chickens were stolen last night from the John Wall place near Atwood, according to reports. Sheriff's officers now are investigating the burglary, on Jefferson street near North street.

Convicted of driving through a boulevard stop, William A. Mueller, 35, Route 2, Box 191, Orange, was brought to county jail yesterday afternoon to begin serving a five-day term. He had the alternative of paying a $10 fine.

"What does it require to make a woman intoxicated?" was the question Anaheim police and Police Matron Mona Price were asked to answer last night. They stopped a 25-year-old Fullerton woman who had hitch-hiked a ride to Anaheim, arrested her on a drunk charge. "I'm really not drunk," the woman said. "I didn't drink enough to be that way." Mrs. Price said a doctor alleged the woman was intoxicated. "Well, I can't see why," the woman purportedly declared. "I only had two quarts of beer." She was booked at county jail.

Jose B. Campos, 26, Corona, was booked at county jail yesterday by Constable William Skillman, Fullerton, on a charge of failure to support the Campos minor children.

Complaint that hoboos were encamped on private property near Santiago park and were annoying persons visiting the park was investigated by sheriff's officers yesterday. The officers were advised that the hoboos left their camp for parts unknown yesterday. The sheriff's officers agreed to watch the area in the future and keep campers out.

Auto radios stolen from two used car dealers were being sought today by Santa Ana police. A $60 General Motors Philco radio, placed in a 1936 Oldsmobile at the factory was stolen from the O. R. Haan lot, 210 East First, and a $25 Motorola radio, Model 36, was stolen from the Charles R. Carothers lot, 220 East First Street, according to reports filed.

$4,000 Judgment Gained in Court

A total award of $4,000 in damages was granted against Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Hart, of Orange and Santa Ana, by a jury that heard suits brought by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Savage and Mary Corrick in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court this week. The verdict was rendered at 9:50 last evening, after the jury had deliberated five hours.

The award included $2,000 to Mary Corrick, who had sued for $15,025, and $2,000 to Mrs. Frances Russell, who had asked $15,000. Russell, who had asked $25 special damages and other expenses, was denied his claim.

The damage suit was based upon a traffic accident at Culver avenue and Orange street, Orange, last September 19.

Migrant Families Show Decrease

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—(UP)—The Farm Security Administration reported today an approximate 25 per cent decrease in the number of migratory families entering California seeking employment in 1938 as compared to 1937. The December, 1938, record of emigrants was the lowest monthly average since February, 1936, FSA Director Jonathan Garst said.

The 1938 total of 18,255 families, including California residents, compared to over 22,500 families the year previous and approximately 21,005 families in 1936, Garst said. The summer and fall months of 1938 witnessed a large and consistent decline in migration, as compared to previous years, he said.

Lyon Wins Suit Over Boat Buy

H. S. Tenney, of San Diego, who sued Roy J. Lyon, former owner of the Balboa yacht basin, for an unstated amount of damages, claiming fraud in connection with the purchase of a 38-foot boat and its equipment, lost his suit in Superior Judge Franklin G. West's court yesterday, when judgment was entered in favor of Lyon for $167.77 on his cross-complaint. Lyon claimed that $374.37 was due from Tenney on the purchase of the boat. Tenney had asked cancellation of the purchase agreement.

See Need Of Harbor Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(UP)—The navy considers all improvements at the Pearl Harbor base in the Hawaiian islands of an emergency nature, Rear Admiral Ben Moreell, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, told the House naval affairs committee today. He said that naval facilities there are deficient.

The committee is considering the administration's $65,000,000 bill to establish 12 naval air bases in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Moreell's observation was made while he was being questioned on provisions of the bill to lift limitations on what the navy might pay outside help. He said that present restrictions, which permitted the navy to pay no more than $25 a man for outside help hindered the navy in emergency cases.

Court Rule Hits Poker 'Parlors'

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.—(UP)—Judge Emmet Wilson today ruled that draw poker establishments are illegal and, as such, could be abated as public nuisances although the game of draw poker itself might be considered legal.

In a decision in the case against the Embassy Palace, in Gardenia, Judge Wilson held that all places where betting is permitted, including possibly all pool rooms and places where bets are made on horses and dog races, except legalized race tracks, would be affected.

He issued a permanent injunction banning draw poker in the Gardenia establishment. Similar restraining orders were issued against the Elite club, in Hawthorne, and the Hawthorne club in that city.

Three other persons who agreed to work out fines include Prescott Johnson, Santa Ana, for speeding, $10; Martin Cochran, Route 1, Garden Grove, speed, $8, and Leonard Eggert, Anaheim, speed, $8. Mr. Coffman and Shirley Baker, both of Santa Ana, were fined $5 each for speed and boulevard stop violation, respectively.

A light snow also fell at Tucson and the higher mountain regions of the state were blanketed by several feet.

ANNOUNCE CUTS IN LIABILITY RATES

Substantial reductions in automobile liability rates have just been announced by the Automobile Casualty conference, effective January 30, according to John A. Henderson, of the Robbins-Henderson agency. The reductions particularly affect cars in the medium and heavier classifications. The reductions do not affect cars in the light classification in this particular territory, but in Los Angeles and vicinity, these rates also have been reduced, Henderson said.

Reason for the reduction is seen in the drop in accidental deaths during the past year, due to intensive safety campaigns, and also due to the inauguration by the insurance companies of a credit plan known as the safe driver award. According to this plan, a driver who has no claim filed against him for property damage or liability during his policy year is entitled to a return of 15 per cent on his property damage and liability premiums. Some companies have anticipated this credit by carefully selecting their risks and allowing the 15 per cent credit in advance, where it is indicated that the driver has a satisfactory record, Henderson said.

News behind the news

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The ways of government are wondrous to behold.

Consider a recent development within the civil aeronautics authority. The problem of existing railroad, telephone and power lines around airports has been considered serious since that plane, nearing the Oakland airport, lost its radio beam, apparently because of static interference and landed in the surf with loss of life. Electric lines near airports seem to be bending and splitting radio beams occasionally under too-perfect radio weather conditions. Also a Florida plane struck and burned in a high voltage power line. Something had to be done.

So CAA started what sounded like a good idea at the time—a move to require railroads, telephone, telegraph and power companies to take their power lines two miles away from all airports. A private hearing was held. Government witnesses were called in. The idea was generally favored—until the railroad, telephone, telegraph and power companies heard in some way or other what was going on.

They rushed in and testified it would only cost them about $4 or $5 billions to move their lines away from airports. Imagine, they said, what the Pennsylvania railroad would have to do, running two-mile circles around airports between Washington and New York; or what it would cost the Southern to build new tracks and a bridge across the Potomac two miles away from the existing airport which now lies alongside the bottleneck bridge here, across which all north-south rail traffic along the Atlantic seaboard flows.

Why not put the shoe on the foot to which it belonged, the companies asked. Why not make the airports get away two miles from the railroads? That was an idea, too. CAA was cooperative, conciliatory, went to work to attack the problem from the opposite way. Moving airports likewise would be too costly an expense (in Washington a new airfield is being constructed here less than half a mile from the tracks). But the power lines might be put under ground at considerable expense to someone. A special committee of government men and representatives of the private companies was appointed and will no doubt work out a solution eventually.

The incident, therefore, is not likely to become particularly tremendous—but it will always remain typical.

Inner reaction to Hitler's Reichstag speech was far different from appeased editorial comment generally. Officials place no faith whatever in anything Hitler may say. By experience they have learned his words are generally expressed to create whatever diplomatic atmosphere he may desire at the moment.

His Reichstag speech last year was similarly mild. Shortly thereafter he conquered Austria, then cut himself a slice of Czechoslovakia. But in his recent Reichstag speech he revealed he had plans for these conquests already drawn at the time he delivered the mild 1938 speech.

His soft new words there will have less effect on Washington policy than is being assumed. Not that anyone believes he is yet ready to jump again. They really think he will wait a more favorable time for it.

Next big European development is likely to be a Mediterranean arrangement between France and Italy.

Mussolini controls Mare Nostrum. The fact is becoming too obvious for France to ignore. Il Duce therefore stands a good chance to get a voice in Suez management and the Djibouti railway but whether he will get any land in Africa is doubtful (to most authorities here).

He probably will soon present demands which will not require war, but which will be based instead upon what he thinks he can safely get away with.

No official excitement exists over suggestions that end of the war in Spain will cause France and Italy to fight. Such an assumption seems to be largely Loyalist propaganda or at least a suggestion born of Loyalist despair after defeat.

Less partisan authorities do not expect Mussolini to try to keep his troops in Spain. All he needs for his best military purposes is to keep the naval and air bases he already has. Franco no doubt will be glad to lease him a sub-base in Majorca which will be sufficient to his purposes.

Nation-Wide Bean Campaign To Aid County

MIDDLEWEST IN LEAD ON DRIVE

More than 100,000 retail stores throughout the nation today ushered in the most outstanding sales promotion of dried beans in the history of the industry, according to an announcement received here today by C. J. Cogan, of the Irvine company, from the National Association of Food Chains.

The week of Feb. 2-8 has been proclaimed by Governor Fitzgerald, of Michigan, as "Eat More Beans Week" and the campaign slogan is "a pot of beans on every table."

Economical Food

In making his proclamation, Governor Fitzgerald pointed out that beans are one of the world's most economical foods and ought to be a pleasant dish after the rich foods of the holiday season. Beans are high in vitamin B and G content and contain iron phosphorus and calcium and have a high percentage of carbohydrates, he said.

Boost of Income

"Santa Ana and Orange county residents are particularly interested in the sales promotion being a success," Cogan said today, "since much of the income of Orange county growers is dependent upon the sale of beans."

2 MORE DAYS TO GET LICENSES

Car owners have just two days in which to apply for their 1939 automobile plates—unless they wish to pay an additional amount. After Saturday the registration fee will be doubled and the license fee increased 50 per cent. Applications mailed to Sacramento must be in post offices Saturday afternoon. C. J. Springmann, manager of the division of registration of the California highway patrol office at 3005 North Main street, announced today that the office would be open Saturday afternoon to receive applications. While the office is scheduled to close at 5 p. m., the office will continue to serve those already in line after that time.

Close On Saturday
C. A. Groom, in charge of the registration office in the Santa Ana city hall, said that while the office will officially close at 5 p. m. Saturday, those already in the office at that time will have their applications accepted.

The third registration office is located on North Spadra, Fullerton. Howard E. Deems, registrar of the division of registration, was a visitor at the Orange county offices yesterday.

would not answer some of the senate military affairs committee questions unless he was permitted to have a lawyer to advise him. Insiders thought he was extremely apprehensive about the airplane jam (which they credited to the instigation of Ambassador to Paris, Bill Bullitt).

War officials were less critical of Morgenthau than they might have been, possibly because they had ordered some of their secret contraptions taken off the plane before letting the Frenchman ride. One thing they removed was their new secret bomb equipment. Their secret bomb sights had not yet been installed.

Child Wonder At Walker's

Glancing up as if to say "Please don't interrupt me in my studies," "Jaydee" Thompson, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Thompson, 925 French street, was caught by a Register photographer as he prepared to take his place on the stage of Walker's theater tomorrow night. "Jaydee" will perform his mental gymnastics for Harold Simpson.

PIONEERS RECALL 'HANDSOME' RED BUILDING ON NORTH MAIN

"What is that handsome red brick building?" might have inquired the tourist who drove through Santa Ana in the early 1900's in his horseless carriage.

That "handsome" building, which used to stand on the present junior college campus grounds, was originally built for a high school. The old timers who remember it describe it as being a "two-and-a-half" building about the size of the courthouse.

Enrollment Grows
After the first high school was built about 1913 the building became the intermediate school and the grandfather of Willard and Lathrop. Intermediate was not just another word for junior high. It consisted of the seventh and eighth grades. As the enrollment grew it was necessary to construct additional buildings—first Lathrop, then Willard.

After that the red brick buildings were condemned and abandoned. Like all abandoned buildings, the windows became targets for little boys with rocks and B. B. guns. After years of standing empty the larger building was torn down. Its site is now the lawn of the junior college campus.

New Plant Erected
Crossing Main street between classes involved dangers that were unavoidable in the old location, and necessitated the building of the present Willard plant.

PLAN P.-T. A. AFFAIR
A musical tea is planned for February 6 at 3 p. m. at the Roosevelt school and is to be sponsored by the P.-T. A. of the school. Appearing on the program will be a number of the most talented artists in the city, according to an announcement made today. Mrs. H. P. RECORD IS SET
Since the founding of the anthology in 1927, poetry by Santa Ana Jaycee students have been printed in every issue. Two years ago, 12 Dons were represented, setting a record for poetry included from any one college. Much of the poetry to be submitted editors by the Santa Ana students will be those appearing in Tavern Post, Jaycee literary magazine, which is scheduled to appear on the campus soon, according to T. H. Glenn, faculty advisor.

According to Glenn, the Blade is sometimes edited by jaycees and sometimes by four year colleges or universities.

Deadline for copy is scheduled for March 3, Editor E. Francis Sanguinetti stated.

REGISTER YARN GIVES "BREAK"

Reading in The Register of the mental gymnastics practiced by three-year-old James David Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Thompson, 925 French street, Santa Ana, Harold "Happy" Simpson, master-of-ceremonies, who arranges the weekly "Opportunity Night" programs for Walker's stage, contacted the Thompsons yesterday and completed arrangements for the tot's guest appearance tomorrow night on the stage.

Little "Jaydee," who became outstanding noticeably a year ago because of his ability to learn quickly and hold information "at the tip of his tongue," can tell you the name of any state capital, recite 25 or 30 popular nursery rhymes, tell you of world events, can count to 50 correctly without batting an eye.

Father Unemployed
"Jaydee's" father, an unemployed fry-cook, and Mrs. Thompson, arrived from Oscola, Mo., with "Jaydee," native of Oscola, last May. On the same stage program with "Jaydee" will appear an outstanding novelty show of eight or more acts, according to Simpson. Guitar music, songs, impersonations, a minstrel act, dances and specialty numbers by the Wallace brothers' band will be among the stage features.

The regular screen bill also will be presented, including "The Young in Heart," starring Janet Gayner, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Paulette Goddard, and "Heart of the North," with Dick Foran, Gloria Dickson and Allen Jenkins, and selected short subjects.

Paper Published By Willard High Wins Many Honors

Seven years ago, February 12, 1932, a mimeographed sheet, in Valentine motif and dedicated to Lyle B. Mitchell, principal, made its appearance at Willard. Lack of extensive equipment was no barrier. The paper first "went to press" on the school mimeograph. From this feeble beginning has grown the All-American Echo of today.

Vic Rowland, now a copy reader on the Stanford Daily, edited the first "Echo" under the direction of Mrs. Vera Allen, present sponsor of the publication.

On December 18, 1935, a change occurred when the paper was printed at the high school print shop, under the direction of Thomas E. Williams.

The school paper has brought many honors to Willard and Santa Ana. In 1936 three first prizes were captured at the Southern association convention held at Santa Maria. Again in 1937 and in 1938, the publication won third place in the county.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

De Molay Chapter Holds Installation Rites

De Molay alumni, headed by Abe Bergseter, provided an effective installing team Tuesday night in Masonic temple, for the ritualistic ceremonies whereby new De Molay officers were inducted into their several posts, with Glenn Cave Jr. as master councilor, succeeding Dick Horton.

Since it was an open meeting, the big chapter room was filled with friends of the young men and members of Masonic and Eastern Star chapters, and De Molay Mothers Circle. The new staff of officers includes with master councilor, Hugh Neighbor and Kenneth Warren, senior and junior councilors; Clinton Roemer and Rex Blackburn, senior and junior deacons; Ernie Barrett and Barney Robinson, senior and junior stewards; Glenn Towner, chaplain; Don Anderson, marshal; Richard Hardy, orator; Ledru Baker, sentinel; Marvin Webb, standard bearer; Stanley Jiles, altar monitor; Buck Bemis, Myer Dougherty, Paul Cleary, Henry Corned, Jack Adams, L. V. Compton and Bob McCowan, preceptors.

A very inspiring talk was addressed to the officers and their fellow members by the Rev. Walter Tipton from the sheriff's office. Little Miss Vina Mae Harmer played several accordion solos, and the remainder of the program was the interesting awards of merit.

The citation of being representative De Molay was accorded Bob Luxembourger, with Gregg Watson making the award. Dr. Roy Horton presented the past scribe's jewel to Clyde Filer; John Adams awarded the preceptor's cup to Dick Hardy; Shelley Horton, himself a past master councilor, welcomed his brother, Dick Horton, to the ranks of past chief officers, by presenting him with the past master's pin.

Closing this little ceremonial was the presentation by the retiring master councilor, Dick Horton, of a sheaf of red roses to his mother, Mrs. Roy Horton, junior past president of De Molay Mothers' club, and Glenn Cave Jr. of a gavel to his son, Glenn Cave Jr. The gavel is banded with silver engraved with suitable inscription. The remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing in the chapter hall, where refreshments were served by De Molay Mothers.

Retiring Officers Give Sorority Dinner

Accompanied by the traditional ritual of the chapter, Phi Omega sorority's installation of officers was made very impressive Tuesday night when Miss Ruth McBurney entertained the group in her home, 401 East Washington avenue. Miss Helen Fine, just concluding her presidential term, presided over the rites, surrendering her office to Mrs. Laurence Roberts.

Installed with Mrs. Roberts were Miss Myrna Brooks, vice president; Miss Annie Tucker, secretary, and Miss Hazel Oliphant, treasurer. To each officer was presented a pretty corsage cluster of gardenias.

As sequel to the rites, the group repaired to La Hacienda for a dinner at which retiring officers were hostesses. Candles in brass candelabra lighted the table, with its quiet Mexican appointments. Place cards were the clever handwork of Miss Fine, and were made of sheet brass, with a Mexican design on each. After dinner the group returned to the McBurney home for bridge play in which first and consolation prizes were awarded Mrs. Lester Boyd and Mrs. Ronald Vincent. Late in the evening, Miss McBurney served hot chocolate and cookies.

Guest Artist

Miss Wynne Davis, lyric-dramatic soprano star of radio and screen, will present a guest-night program for Junior Ebeli society Tuesday, February 7, at 7:45 p. m. in the clubhouse auditorium. All members will have the privilege of bringing guests to the event, which is expected to prove one of the club's outstanding programs of the year.

New Delphian Society Launches Study Program

Launching their study program with an exceptionally interesting session, charter members of the newly organized Delphian society met yesterday morning in Ebeli clubhouse where they will continue to stage their semi-monthly sessions in the lounge until the midsummer recess.

For this first program meeting, at which the charter was officially signed, the young matrons comprising the study group were privileged to entertain the Pacific coast director, Mrs. Lena Latham Goble of Los Angeles. Her address on "World Problems and Woman's Place in a Democracy" was declared to be so inspiring that many expressed the wish that the meeting might have been an open one.

The most pressing problem faced by modern civilization, according to Mrs. Goble, is that of Paganism versus Christianity. In discussing European affairs, she spoke of the fusion of minds in any nation, that ultimately leads to dictatorship, and the corresponding ebbing tide of education. Mrs. Goble was introduced by Mrs. Maebelle Myers of Long Beach, district director, who has been instrumental in the new chapter's founding.

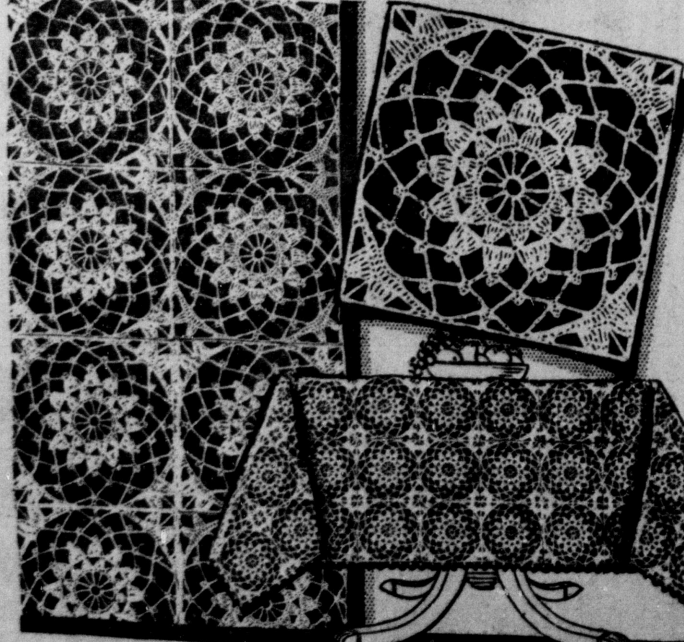

Mrs. Robert S. Wade was chosen as president of the new group. Her assistant officers will be Mrs. Edmund West, vice president; Mrs. Fred Burlew, secretary; Mrs. B. Price, treasurer, and Mrs. Homer Chaney, chairman of the seminar. Mrs. Myers will take over leadership of the first few meetings, after which members will assume the responsibility themselves.

Luncheon Has Sequel Of Shower Gifts

Among courtesies now being tendered Mrs. Robert Wimbush was a very pleasant little luncheon and gift shower for which a group of relatives assembled Saturday in the Alhambra home of Mrs. Ralph Hess.

Luncheon tables accented the prevailing pink and white note with their clusters of sweet peas and stocks. Following enjoyment of the menu, guests gathered in a circle while Mrs. Wimbush examined the dainty layette gifts placed in a big basket decorated with a flower pink bows topped with a flower corsage as a special gift from the hostess. Accompanying Mrs. Wimbush from this city was her husband's mother, Mrs. Richard N. Wimbush, with Mrs. George Shippe, Miss Lorene Shippe, now employed in the Fullerton office of the Gas company, also joined the party with Miss Florence Aitken of that city, and a few Alhambra members of the family circle.

D. A. V. Auxiliary Plans Various Activities

Although Jack Fisher auxiliary D. A. V.'s meeting last night in Knights of Columbus hall was highlighted by a discussion of the approaching Military Ball, various other affairs of special interest occupied the attention of the group. Reports of the first day's sale of tickets for the ball, to be held February 20 at the Balboa Rendezvous were given during the meeting, conducted by the commander, Mrs. James Wylie. Plans were made to entertain the state commander, Mrs. Ramona Hooper, Wednesday evening, March 1, when she will make her official visit to the local auxiliary. Dinner will be served.

Appointed to serve on the refreshment committee for February, March and April were Mesdames George Miles, Olga Wood, Don Murphy, David Day, William Clark and Harry Pickard. Mrs. Elvina Cooper of Anaheim told of a recent visit to Sawtelle hospital, when cigarettes, candles and magazines were taken to veterans. She was accompanied by Herbert Thwaite, hospital chairman for the chapter, and Lee Prentice, whose father is in the hospital. It was announced that other articles will be taken to Sawtelle Sunday when members make a trip to the hospital.

An all day sewing meeting will be held next Wednesday in the home of Mrs. George Morgan, 1025 West Chestnut street, with covered-dish luncheon at noon. The group will work on aprons and tea towels. Announcement was made that D. A. V. eighth district meeting will be held February 12 in Ontario Legion clubhouse, 113 West E street.

For Ninth Birthday

An after-school party Monday afternoon in the Gas Callens ranch home near Greenville, was a birthday event shared by friends and schoolmates of nine-year-old George Callens, son of the home.

In a lively games program preceding the refreshment hour Jerry Kraemer took the prize competed for by Joe Osterkamp, Frank Seeley, James Kellett and the young party host, whose guests included also Mrs. Joseph Callens of this city and Mrs. Alice Callens and daughter, Agnes Andrea, of Anaheim. Gifts and refreshments were other pleasant features. Mrs. Callens had arranged a pretty table for serving, using the big birthday cake as centerpiece. Accompanying the cake were fruit punch, hot chocolate and ice cream, with candy and nuts in the pretty little cups that also formed place cards.

Club Group Received

With Chinese checkers as games program, the Everett Hunters opened their pleasant home at 1424 Louise street to Tescuo club members and a guest or two, on Tuesday evening. When scores in the close contest were tallied, Mrs. Arthur Eells and Harold Pollock were proven to have outclassed their competitors. Big valentine candy hearts were reward for their skill, and others had to content themselves with smaller hearts.

Coffee and pumpkin pie served with mounds of whipped cream, provided an interesting sequel to the evening's play in which Mr. and Mrs. Eells joined as special guests of the Hunters, to the pleasure of other Tescuo members, Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Leonard, L. B. Pearl, Harold K. Pollock, Barton Withall, Earl Vite and Louis J. Pletke.

Local Churchwomen Plan For World Day Of Prayer

Preparations for local observance by churchwomen of the annual World Day of Prayer on the first Friday of the Lenten season, February 24, were made Tuesday afternoon when presidents or their representatives of virtually all the Protestant Missionary societies in the city, were assembled upon call of Mrs. John W. McCormac, president of Federated Missionary societies.

Mrs. McCormac received the churchwomen in her home, 112 Church street, where she had assistance from her sister officers in the federation, in hostess duties. These represent various churches of the city and include Mrs. Hiram Curry and Mrs. F. L. Chase, vice presidents; Mrs. O. S. Johnson, secretary; Mrs. Mary Tuppen, treasurer, and Miss Elizabeth Wyant, chairman of literature.

Local observance of the Day of Prayer will be held in First Evangelical church, Tenth and Main street, where the ritualistic program will begin at 2 o'clock. A more detailed program will be announced in advance of the date.

General Interest

Interest in the event was expressed by all the women gathered in the McCormac home, each of whom will carry reports of the day's procedure back to her individual society. These include the various missions as well as organized churches.

Methodist Women Share All Day Program

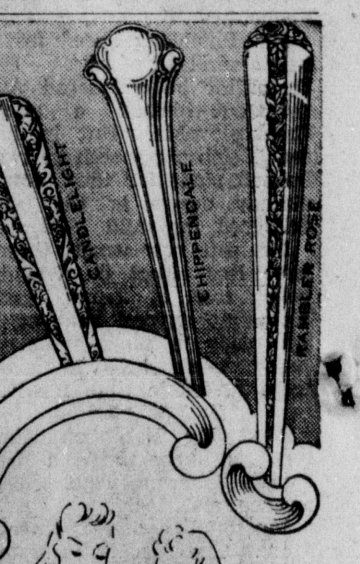

Women's day yesterday at First Methodist church drew scores of members for a varied program which opened in the morning with Home Missionary society's meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Henry Guthrie.

"Crowded Streets" was the theme of the opening program, which dealt with the early days of city missions. Mrs. Theo Winkler, Mrs. W. A. Taylor and Mrs. J. C. Gardner each gave a short talk on the subject.

Mrs. Clarence Bond opened Associated Women's meeting at 11 a. m. Mrs. Charles Blackburn outlined rules for a membership contest opening February 15 and closing at Easter time. Mrs. George Angne gave an informative talk on the Goodwill Industry, after which devotions were led by Mrs. S. E. Hearn. Buffet luncheon in the social hall was served by Circle No. 8, with Mrs. Sam Long in charge.

Women's Foreign Missionary society meeting in the afternoon was conducted by Mrs. C. E. Lawrence. Mrs. Horton Palmer gave a report of a district meeting held recently in Ontario. Perry Smith Bogart, minister of music, sang solos including two sacred numbers, "Consider and Hear Me" and "The Living God."

India's World News was presented by Miss Mary Lamb and Mrs. H. I. Tway. They opened the large Gothic door with the keys of sacrificial service. In the background was a jungle scene complete with plants, animal figures and other articles such as Miss Doris Welles, missionary to India, has described in her many letters to the group. From a miniature airplane which was a part of the setting, a mail bag with late news from India, was dropped. Mesdames Henry Guthrie, E. E. Ulrich, Linwood, W. B. Snow and C. E. Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2.—Settin' Around (Twentieth Century-Fox): Studios have the reputation of being inhospitable because they no longer throw open their doors to visitors as they did in the old silent days. But think over this incident, observed today on the "Alexander Graham Bell" set, and you'll be slow to blame them.

It was an unusually delicate, emotional scene between Don Ameche and Loretta Young—one of those scenes which depends entirely on the ability of the actors to maintain a subtle mood. Before essaying a first take, Director Irving Cummings talked for 30 minutes to Don and Loretta, getting them into the spirit of the scene. The first take—otherwise a gem of perfection—was ruined when the microphone boom collided with an overhead lamp. A second take, also perfect, was spoiled by the camera truck thudding into a set wall. Hammering on a nearby stage ruined the third and a passing truck wrecked the fourth. Don and Loretta blew their lines in the fifth as the results of nerve strain—and everyone sat down and relaxed for fifteen minutes. Then they tried a sixth. It was superb—a scene so emotionally true that even the crew, usually hardboiled, were moved. Then, with that take nearly finished, a visitor sneezed!

What would you have done if you had been the director? Cummings didn't do it—possibly because he couldn't find a lethal weapon, but if ever I saw murder in a man's face, it was written on his. Murder? Maybe justifiable homicide would be more apt.

CHATTER ABOUT TWENTIETH CENTURY IDOLS: The light that used to shine in Arlene Whelan's eyes at mention of Richard Green has become just a glint. Not that it matters but Annabella, in legal circles, is Mrs. Annabella Carpenter Murat—more Power to her. Reflection on watching Gregory Ratoff direct a scene: wouldn't it be a good idea for director-actors to forget to act while directing and vice versa? Warner Baxter has been playing romantic lovers for 20 years, but he's still the Number One Thrill to every young gal on the lot. Today's Ritz-ism: "We're glad we're crazy—it keeps us from going nuts!" List all the adjectives suitable for Garbo, think of their exact opposites—and you'll have a perfect description of Marie Wilson.

Francis J. Harley, British manager for Twentieth Century, visited the "Sussanah of the Mounties" set, where I was chatting with Shirley Temple. Learning that he was just in from England, Curley Top immediately began to cross examine him about her two idols, the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. "Their Royal Highnesses have often heard of you—and I know they would like to meet you," Harley gravely assured her. Shirley excitedly called her mother. "Mama," she shouted as Mrs. Temple approached. "Mama, please, when can we go to England?"

Tyrone Power's election as "King of the Movies" was the signal for a lot of ribbing—with Don Ameche as ribber-in-chief. Today, when Ty entered the studio cafe, he was solemnly greeted by two liveried footmen (costumed by courtesy of the wardrobe department), who conducted him to a gilded throne (borrowed by Mr. Ameche from the property department). And while Don and his cohorts cheered, poor Ty had to perch there and eat his lunch. But it looks like King Tyrone may have the last laugh after all. He had the throne sent to his home—and Don's trying to explain to an irate property department why he shouldn't pay for it.

The Young sisters—Loretta, Polly Ann, Sally Blane and 14-year-old Georgiana—are working together for the first time in "Alexander Graham Bell" and their clannishness is a joy to behold. Whenever the company still man submits proofs of portraits of any one, the other three gather round and a family conference is held to decide on the touching needed. Whenever one plays in a scene, the other three are on the side-lines to criticize her performance and make suggestions for a second take. Polly Ann, Sally and Loretta mother Georgiana, coach her in her lines, adjust her makeup, smooth out her costumes and lecture her on the philosophy of screen success. Amusingly, Georgiana, the baby of the family, towers a good two inches above the tallest of her sisters.

Basil Rathbone, playing Sherlock Holmes in "Hound of the Baskervilles," has had to learn the rudiments of fiddle playing, and he insists on practicing between scenes—with excruciating results. Today Nigel Bruce was summoned for a scene with him, and instructed by the director to register disgust at the fiddling. "Disgust!" snorted Bruce, "If someone doesn't restrain me, I'll attack him!"

Episcopal Women Have Enjoyable Meeting

Spending the greater part of the time sewing on quilt blocks and carpet rags for a missionary box, members of Episcopal Women's auxiliary met yesterday afternoon in the parish hall. The president, Miss Minnie Besser, was in charge.

Mrs. S. P. Freeman reported on a recent convention which church women held in Los Angeles. Mrs. F. H. Finney told of a recent meeting of Federated Missionary societies in the home of Mrs. J. W. McCormack.

Plans were announced for a benefit dessert bridge party which St. Elizabeth's guild will give for the auxiliary Saturday afternoon, February 11 at 1 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Emil Wagner.

Mrs. Edward Williams, hostess for the day, served sandwiches, cookies and tea, assisted by Mrs. Ethel Hart.

Musical Arts Club Holds Evening Meeting

One of Musical Arts club's occasional evening meetings was given pleasant setting Tuesday night in the T. A. Winbiger home, 207 East Ninth street, where the club group has been frequently entertained. In the absence of Mrs. Thomas H. Willets, her presidential duties were assumed by Mrs. Jay C. Hamill. Several cheerful songs including the club's favorite Greetings song, brought the group around the piano where Mrs. Charles G. Nalle played and Mrs. Benjamin Livesey led in the chorus. Business matters brought up for discussion after the customary reports, included such varied subjects as the concert series; post-concert parties, including that to follow the Kathryn Miesle program on February 10, and the month's club meetings. On February 21 will come the 12:15 o'clock luncheon at Daniger's. On Tuesday night, February 28, the Clarence Gustlin home, 816 North Main street, will be opened to the group, with a special musical program now being planned by Holly Lash Visel and her program committee.

Social phases of Tuesday night's meeting included a refreshment hour, for which Mrs. Winbiger garlanded her dining room table quite charmingly with flowers and candles. She had the assistance of Miss Cynthia Schalenkamp, Mrs. Nalle, Mrs. Jefferson Eyerly and Julia Constance Layman, in planning and serving the menu of sandwiches, crisp little cookies and candy. Mrs. W. B. Snow and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh presided at the silver tea and coffee urns.

Measure out 3 1/2 cups of sifted flour and add 1 rounded teaspoon baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon, each, cinnamon, allspice and cloves. Add 1 rounded cup of chopped walnuts. Mix nuts with sifted flour and work into creamed part. Knead well, form into a roll, wrap in waxed paper and store on bottom shelf of refrigerator. Slice and bake as needed.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Chili Con Carne
2 pounds round steak, cut in tiny squares
Suet for frying meat
2 or 3 cloves of garlic, minced
3 cups of brown chili beans cooked with
2 large onions, chopped, and 1 bay leaf, crushed fine
1 small bottle of chili powder
A No. 2 can of tomato puree
1 cup pearl barley
Salt, pepper, paprika and dash of cayenne.

—our tested recipe.
Pick over and soak beans an hour in hot water. Drain, and boil in fresh water with onion and bay leaf until beans are almost tender. Combine with browned beef, garlic, seasonings, tomato and pearl barley. Simmer for 30 minutes and add the chili powder blended with a little hot water. Cover and simmer for a couple of hours, or until the barley is plump and tender.

The chili recipe makes such a quantity, families are apt to tire of it. Ice-box the chili add more meat (hamburger fried brown) and do this with pie.

Tamale Pie
Prepare 1 quart of thick corn meal mush, well seasoned. Line a deep dish with the mush, fill with hot chili-seasoned meat, add a cupful of ripe olives to pie filling and top with remaining mush, dotted with butter. Brown the pie in a hot oven.

and serve with salad and a fruit dessert.

When new strawberry rhubarb is high priced, make it into a pie this way.
Wash and slice rhubarb without peeling. Add 1 cup sugar, but no water. Cover and simmer until tender. Thicken slightly and smooth into a baked pie shell. Chill. Cover with meringue or serve with whipped cream.

NO ESCAPING WORK

The new "purge" or "drive" or whatever you wish to call it, against "loafing," "laxity" or whatever you wish to call that, is on in Russia.

Years after a socialistic regime may as well put aside any thought that work will be easier under such a regime. They may argue that rewards will be greater, or other conditions better, but the fact remains that you can't duck work.

When the Spanish Loyalist side almost collapsed because Anarchist dock workers wanted shorter hours and more pay, Socialists and Communists quickly whipped them into line. When Mexican strikers imperiled the national economy by frequent strikes, the leftist government moves for legislation to control them. When Russian workers decide to relax a little and gather some of the fruits of their revolution by taking it easy, they are quickly faced with "Stakhanovism or else."

No country, republican, fascist or socialist, can get along without work. No country can afford to allow its essential services to be bogged up by loafing or slackness. The world is that way, and nobody has even yet discovered any way to get around it.

THE WORM TURNS

For many years we have been listening to wails of viewers-with-alarm crying about how women have been taking away the jobs that men somehow came to regard as their special prerogative.

Thus it is interesting to learn that the worm has turned, the man has bitten the dog, and there is something new under the sun.

For now the men are taking the women's jobs. And Mary Anderson, director of the Woman's Bureau of the Department of Labor, is just as indignant as any man has been at the intrusion of women into "men's jobs."

Men are "encroaching," Miss Anderson reports, "in woman's traditional fields in retail trade, hotels and restaurants, laundries, office work, textiles, men's clothing and confectionery." She wants more vocational training for women, and development of new lines of work into which women can go.

It is hard to see why sauce for the goose is not an equally good condiment for the gander. And why, if it were all right for women to take men's jobs in their "traditional fields" a few years back, shouldn't men take them back again?

GOLD IN THE SNOW

Travel bureaus report that the phenomenal vogue for winter sports—which in three years has skyrocketed sales of skis, snowshoes and toboggans 200 per cent and doubled the output of skates—is reflected this winter in a floodtide of winter tourist travel to California. The army of ski and skate enthusiasts, flashing across the continent in streamlined "snow trains," is nearly 20 per cent larger than that of last winter, reports reveal.

Eastern traffic experts credit the amazing new luster in our snow-sports meccas, as well as the transcontinental travel increase, to the same source; development of luxurious comfort and higher speeds in train service. At tourist rates the sports lover enjoys refinements which a millionaire could not have commanded a few short years ago.

The generous spending of winter tourists benefits all California—hotels, restaurants, department and clothing stores, food retailing, farming and innumerable other consumer goods industries, as well as the mountain resorts and the sports equipment makers and their retailers. The "iron horse" has shown the East that there is pleasure land the West that there is gold in the glistening snow of our winter playgrounds.

The winter sports craze has hit Santa Ana just as hard as any other place and any Sunday one may see auto loads of pleasure seekers going to the mountains with their cars laden with skis, toboggans and other winter sports equipment.

MORE CONCERN FOR BUSINESSMAN

There is discernible in the 76th Congress a more unfavorable attitude toward the American businessman—more concern for his problems—than can be ascribed to any national legislature since the advent of the New Deal six years ago," writes Alfred Flynn in Barron's.

This probably means that those congressmen who take pleasure in heckling business, though they may be as vocal as ever, will be less influential when it comes to actually getting legislation passed. And it means that the current Congress will be far more independent, far more immune to pressure from any source, than its immediate predecessors. So maybe we can expect a decided change in the fiscal policy.

The other big current issue is rearmament. The President, in a special message, has said that in a world of force we must be as strong as any power; that we must, therefore, embark on greatest peace-time armament program in our history. There is strong opposition to this in some circles—curiously enough, in those liberal and radical circles which support the New Deal in most matters, but fear that the creation of an unprecedented military machine is a step toward war and fascism. There seems to be little opposition in Congress. The big-city press, Republican and Democratic, seems to favor the program in general, though there are differences as to details. Four or five years ago, observers point out, the American people would have been horrified and repelled by such a program; today, with their eyes on dictator-ridden Europe, the feeling grows that it is an unhappy necessity.

Fiscal policy and armament will hold the center of the Congressional stage for some time. Then will come other items on this Congress' calendar. The railroad problem; revision of the social security laws; revision of the Wagner Act; changes in the farm benefit program which has badly bogged down; legislation dealing with tax-exempt securities, and taxation of government employees.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

HITLER'S WAGE IDEAS

With all the absurd things that Hitler has done, he realizes something that we do not seem to realize in the so-called democracy—that is, that the only possible way to increase wages and living standards is to have more production. Here in the United States, where we are governed by majority rule, we elect officers who pay people for restricting production, limiting the number of hours that people dare work, all on the belief that we can lift ourselves by our own bootstraps, spend ourselves rich or drink ourselves sober.

Until the so-called democracies realize that the standard of living is increased only by production and that those people who will not work at what others who are buying their services believe they are worth but insist on being paid what they themselves think they are worth, just so long as the so-called democracies believe in this principle, they will continue to get poorer and poorer. And the countries that know enough to tell men they will have to sell their services to the world's highest bidder and produce something, or submit to being conscripted in poor houses and compelled to produce what they can, will continue to grow and dominate those countries who contend that men do not have to work unless they get what they themselves think they are worth. So long as those who think their services worth more than anyone who has use for it thinks it is worth and can be supported by the fruits of others when they do not get what they themselves think they are worth, just so long will we have unemployment.

CONTROL OF MODERN ARMIES

As we see one country after another taken over by dictators and realize that nowadays, with the kind of machine guns the army has, as compared with the defenselessness of the private citizens, it makes one shudder as to how far a dictator or the voting majority can go in tyranny over men.

Before the day of the modern implements, in war, the citizens often had as good instruments of war as the government. It was much easier in the time of Paul Revere to overthrow a government than it is now, when the citizens have no machine guns and not even ordinary guns, while the army can mow them down with rapid fire machine guns.

The danger of an army deserting the dictator is now realized in Russia. It is reported that Stalin does not allow the ammunition to the army. Evidently he does not even have confidence in his army and probably he well might not have—the way he treats his subjects. It is stated that this is the only place in history where the army has had its ammunition held in reserve from it.

It shows the state of fear of Stalin. Modern times, with modern warfare and modern ideas, make good government something worthy of infinite patience and application of every citizen.

ABSURDITY OF TAXING INDUSTRIAL PAYROLLS

If there is anything absurd in our taxing system, it is putting a tax on a man who is working in an industrial plant. This tax of necessity either raises the cost to the consumer or lowers the real wages of this worker. Especially is this an absurdity when it is remembered that there is no such tax on the worker who is doing work direct for the consumer, such as yard work or household work at the home. Invariably the man who hires help in his home to make it more comfortable should be willing to pay enough to give what is called security by the consumer. Especially is this true when the industrial production is obliged to pay for this so-called security for the industrial worker.

Of course any arbitrary tax is a form of state socialism that tends to make enterprisers and workers less courageous and less venturesome; and anything that makes people timid curtails their initiative and their willingness to take risks in the long run has a very bad effect on the morale of the people. It makes them more like animals and less like human beings. Man's progress came from trying new things, from being venturesome and from taking risks and not from seeking security.

HUMAN NEED OR POLITICAL NEED? (Kansas City Times)

In his attack upon a house subcommittee for cutting down his request for the WPA, Mr. Roosevelt indicates that the committee members have put dollars above human needs.

Now if you will read "political needs" instead of "human needs" you will have the point.

The danger to the administration in the committee's action is this: It comes at the virtual beginning of the session of congress. It is an extremely disturbing precedent. If allowed to go on it might become a signal for adverse congressional action on many appropriations and policies the White House desires.

Hence the alarming cry of human needs. But what are human needs in relation to the WPA? Who knows? Admitting without any argument whatsoever that public aid should be given the unemployed who have no other means of support, what does that have to do with maintaining 500,000 more or 500,000 less on the WPA?

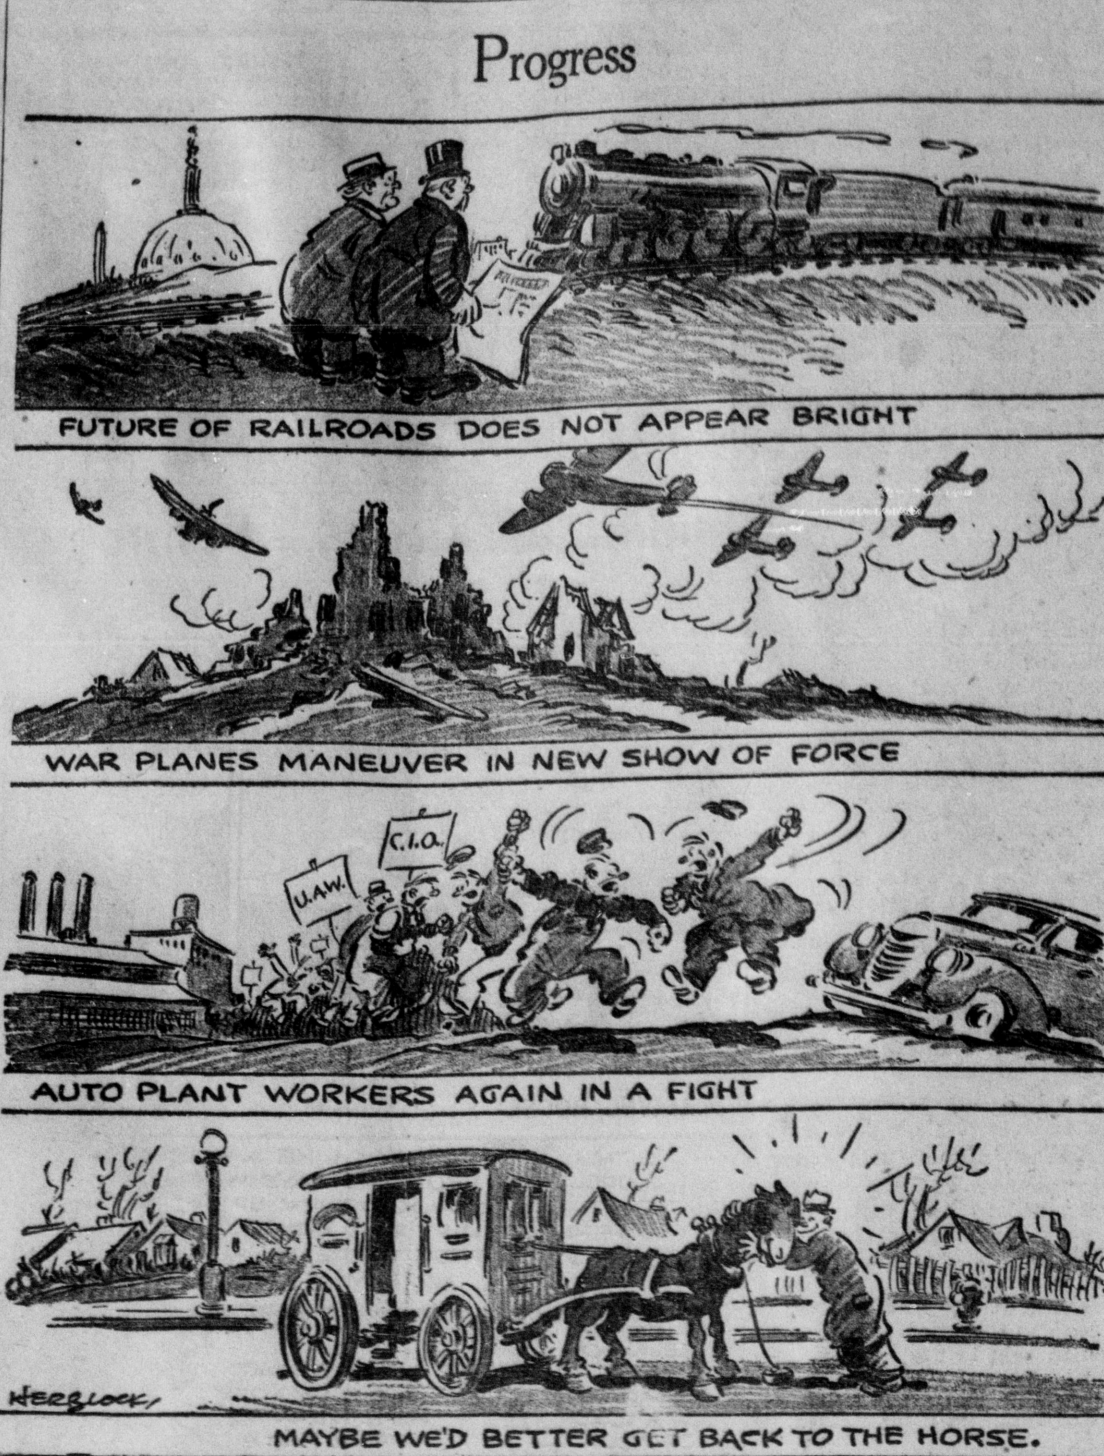

Ever since the agency was started the WPA rolls have been juggled up and down, now off a million or so, now on—mainly as election time approached. The people who are made the victims of this kind of shifting are not under any illusions about its serving of human needs. Nor is the general public.

Here was the original formula of the WPA: It was to provide jobs for all the employables who were idle, leaving the states and local communities to provide by direct relief for all the unemployables. But the nation's jobs are estimated at 10 million or more, while the WPA has never employed more than 3 1/2 million, and that number for only a brief period. It has something more than 3 million on its rolls now. The subcommittee has cut 150 million dollars from the $75 million desired by Mr. Roosevelt to carry the WPA along at an average of about 2,800,000 on its rolls until the end of June.

But human needs can't be arbitrarily averaged in any such fashion as that. Furthermore, if it's human needs we're after, and if the WPA is the only way to meet them, then Mr. Roosevelt should be asking for double or more than double the amount of his request.

No, it's political needs—the need of defending the administration's prestige at the very outset of the session and the need of defending the most costly form of relief because it is an established administration policy.

We trust the subcommittee and the rest of congress get the point.

Fair Enough

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Inasmuch as Tom Mooney now represents himself as a leader, almost as the god, of American labor, he puts it up to the patriotic citizens for whom he presumes to speak to examine his character, methods and declared beliefs. There may be some among the Americans whom he would call his followers who would then take care to repudiate him. The latest suggestion that Mooney be judged by the company he keeps or that he be taken at his word on matters on which he has declared himself is immediately and violently denounced as "red-baiting" and as the paid propaganda of Wall Street and Fascism.

But in this connection it is important to remember that he himself is a skilled baiter and propagandist, that toll was not his principal occupation even before he was sent to prison and that in denouncing the Nazi-Fascist type of dictatorship he has failed to denounce the Russian kind as well.

Indeed, he has expressed admiration for Josef Stalin, and a compilation of his writings might move American workers who believe in unionism, but not in revolution, to withhold their credentials from him. Surely it would be no injustice to Mooney to give wide publicity to the beliefs that urge which have appeared under his name, and any assertion to the contrary could only mean that it was desired to deceive American workers as to his true principles and intentions.

Mooney himself, in fact, should be glad to emphasize his inflexible policies again in a general statement, which would be sure to receive wide publicity, and abide by the judgment of American labor on his aspiration to lead. As matters stand up to now, he simply takes it for granted that he represents American labor, including many conscious patriots, and the self-approval which is such a famous part of his personal character precludes any doubt of the validity of this assumption.

"The most respectful audience that any man ever addressed paid me the highest tribute ever given a human being," Mooney wrote in one message describing the parade which followed his release from San Quentin by a political decision of the American citizens of California—"never coming celebration for me never before equalled in the whole history of the world."

And, although acknowledging the greatest tribute ever given a human being in a celebration like the one of which the world had never known, Mooney predicted still higher honors for himself in later demonstrations. It may be noted that he did not speak of a celebration of a great triumph of justice which could not have happened in Russia but of a tribute to himself—"the highest ever given a human being."

But that remarkable vanity of the individual man, while it instinctively compels comparison with expressions of unqualified self-praise contained in the orations of Duce and Fuehrer, might be dismissed as immaterial. A vain man may be a good man, and immorality is neither an American nor illegal, although it may be bad politics. But loyal Americans citizens who demand Americanism as the first qualification in their leaders and insist on their own definition of Americanism would examine Mooney's declared beliefs with care.

Nor can it be held, although it will be savagely argued, that a scrutiny of Mooney's statements, by which he must stand or fall, is a trick of Fascist propaganda. All public men aspiring to leadership are judged by their utterances on the issues, and it would not meet the challenge to cry "red-baiting". In fact, that cry would suggest a willingness to concede that Mooney is a red and American labor might reject him.

Mooney's written comments and declarations, constitute a large file. They should be edited, not corrected or modified, but gathered into an edition and placed in the hands of loyal citizens as the platform of Tom Mooney.

Ten Safety Rules for a Church Or Community Supper

Recently the director of the Bureau of Food Control of the City of Baltimore pointed out that danger lies in suppers held on a large scale by lodges, clubs and churches for the purpose of raising money. A recent supper held in the vicinity of Baltimore resulted in seven cases of typhoid fever, and one of these patients died.

Few people realize that the preparation and storage of enough food for from 200 to 400 people requires an entirely different procedure from that required in preparation of food for a family.

For this reason Dr. F. A. Korff has provided 10 rules for guidance when a lodge or club supper is to be given:

1. There should be appointed a supervisor of personnel who is authorized to select and direct the activities of each worker.
2. No person who has a sore throat, a cold or cough or is suspected of being uncleanly in the matter of personal habits should be permitted to handle the food.
3. All persons should be required to wash their hands with soap and hot water before entering the kitchen or handling any of the food before or after its preparation.
4. No food should be stored or prepared in homes or in any other place except under the direct supervision of the appointed supervisor.
5. All food equipment and containers should be washed, rinsed and scalded before being used in preparing, storing and serving the food.
6. All perishable food should be kept refrigerated, not just in cold closets or ice chests, but in properly constructed refrigerators, the inside air temperature of which is below 50 degrees Fahrenheit.
7. Under no circumstances should leftover food be served the second or third day.
8. Food utensils such as cups, glasses, silverware, plates, if used the second time during the meal, should be washed, rinsed and scalded in the same manner that has just been advised for the original cleaning.
9. To prevent the main criticism that often is made following such suppers, namely, that the food was cold when served, be sure that all of it is served piping hot. Any bacterial infection that may have contaminated the food tends to be destroyed by thorough heating.
10. Facilities should be provided for the proper disposal of garbage. Metal garbage cans with tight-fitting lids should be obtained.

The Clearing House

Editor Register:

I have wished to write you ever since reading "in the Los Angeles Times" the editorial "Misinformation Children." You deserve the thanks of all real Americans in the work you have done relative to eliminating Red textbooks from the schools of your city. It is my sincere hope that the investigation will go much further in order to protect all youngsters from the teaching of Communism and other isms.

Perhaps I feel keenly on the subject, not only because I am opposed to aliens running this country, but because I am a former high school teacher, editor of secondary textbooks, and promotional correspondent on textbooks for two leading publishers: Rand McNally & Company of Chicago and The Macmillan Company of New York. For two years I wrote series of sales letters, analyzing books for city, county and state curriculum commissions. Our organization made a conscientious attempt to publish only superior books and to present their merits in such a way that a poor text had little chance of a competitor. My first awakening as to the crookedness behind adoption of textbooks came when the commission of my own state of Indiana failed to adopt any of the first three books recommended as the grade English series by the committee of superintendents and principals, qualified to judge fairly. The book adopted for five years was in pamphlet form at the time of the adoption—just about the worst excuse of a book I have ever seen.

As a newspaper man, you know, of course, that many adoptions are bought by one trick or another. Sometimes new cars are provided by the publisher to board members or individual teachers. Usually, the price is less easily detected, however. State boards distribute the trade, too, in such rotation, for fear of criticism, that a certain company may be favored at a certain year. That company may be offering an inferior arithmetic, however, when arithmetics are to be chosen. Children must suffer with bad textbooks in order that politics may be practiced.

A number of years ago because of pressure brought by the Chicago Superintendent of Schools, we checked all of our histories to make sure that England was not played up more favorably than America. It is more important, certainly, that in this year of 1939 we examine all textbooks to make sure that Red propaganda is not being presented to youth.

While I know nothing about the California Curriculum Commission, my acquaintance with methods followed in adopting textbooks and my understanding of the weaknesses of schools, leads me to suggest that the discovery you made should certainly be publicized. Maybe the board will stand investigation. It does not just happen that our schools are teaching Communism.

Yours very truly,
FRED A. HINER,
Banning, Calif.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Behind the senatorial worry over French airplanes ordered in the United States are just two things: (1) the desperate condition of the French air force today; and (2) the fact that France is trying to buy planes in this country before our own air program is passed by congress and monopolizes U. S. production.

France's desperate need of planes recently was set forth by able Ambassador Bill Bullitt in a confidential report to the President. That report gave revealing insight into the reasons why France and Britain surrendered to Hitler at Munich.

It showed that when Hitler forced the Munich showdown, France had only 500 first line planes, while Britain had an equal number. In contrast Germany had 6,000 first line planes, with 3,500 of slightly inferior quality. Italy had 3,000 to 4,000 planes.

Bullitt reported that France had built up a powerful air force after the Armistice, but had let it deteriorate. This deterioration was accelerated after the Blum Government took over the munitions plants, until in May 1938, not one plane was produced in France.

British Planes
Just before the Munich Conference, the plight of the French air force caused Paris to query the British as to what help they could give in case of a German attack. The British replied that they could send the grand total of 120 planes—but only after one month.

The French also queried the Soviet regarding air reinforcements. The Russians had 4,000 to 5,000 planes, most of them copied after American models. But the Russians replied that their planes probably could not reach France in any bulk quantity.

The Bullitt report also showed that Germany had made plans to attack London and Paris by air, using 80 per cent high explosive bombs, 15 per cent incendiary bombs to set fire to buildings, and 5 per cent gas bombs, the latter to prevent fire engines and rescue squads from putting out the fires.

With this method it appeared that London and Paris would be made a shambles. Thus fear of aerial warfare was the deciding factor behind the Munich surrender. Also it is the motivating factor in the French purchase of airplanes in the U.S.A.

Dancing GOP Daughter
Kenneth Simpson, Republican state chairman for New York, was considered too radical to be a member of the GOP National Committee, but when it comes to his lovely daughter Anne, he is very conservative.

Anne Simpson is one of the accomplished amateur dancers of New York, studied under the late "Argentina," has been offered various Broadway jobs. But her father says No. He has finally consented, however, to let her dance as one of the stellar attractions of the Junior League Follies in Washington this week.

Note—Another stellar attraction will be a comic strip-tease act by Betty Beale, star Washington social columnist.

Monopoly Probe
Whether or not the monopoly probe winds up this spring will be decided at an important meeting to be held by the Monopoly Committee this week.

Committee funds are running low, and a new appropriation is necessary if original plans for a sweeping exploration of U. S. industry are to be consummated. The President favors this and so do the six departmental members of the committee.

But some of the six congressional members are cold. They want to end public hearings, submit a not touch the national income, but only the turnover. He also said that the forced spending of the money is definitely a service performed.

If the rapid circulation of money is so needed to create prosperity, then those who are 40 and over ought to be included as annuitants, and we could double the circulation. Why not really prosper while we are at it?

After all, the plan is just one of the many proposed cures for our ills. The sooner we lay off these patent nostrums, the quicker we will get well.

We have tried the NRA and the AAA and the "nine old men" rescued us from our folly.

Next we tried the Wagner method of discipline for industry, and even tried to spike the mixture with a floor and ceiling for hours and wages. Now the Doctor admits that we are still worse off than he accused us of being before he began treating the disease. He even goes so far as to say that "one third of the nation is ill clad, ill fed and poorly housed."

The Townsend plan merely proposes to inject a few billions into the bloodstream of industry. This is simply pump-priming on a larger scale than we have had heretofore. Why go on this way? To inject more billions into the blood stream of industry will only aggravate the ailment, while the creeping paralysis of Unionism has us in its deadly grip. This is the situation in a nutshell.

The Wagner Law and the Hours and Wages Law, with overlapping bureaucracies, constitute a constant threat to business, hamstringing at every turn the various functions of business. The poorest way to get anyone to go ahead is to lace him into a strait-jacket. The Wagner Act and the Hours and Wages bill should be repealed. They tend to fix wages, and this leads to price fixing. Price fixing robs the buyer of his buying report and draw up a bill to be introduced this session. Behind them is the secret backing of powerful business elements, always fearful of the committee and eager to see it die.

How the committee is acting as a damper on price fixing was illustrated by a confidential letter sent out from Wall Street warning building material manufacturers against "undue" raising of prices. The letter advised that the Monopoly Committee had the machinery for a quick investigation of price structures, so it was wise to be very careful.

Regardless of getting new funds, the insurance probe will open around February 15.

Note—Strangest request for an investigation received by the committee was one charging a monopoly in the contraceptive industry. One complaint came from a defeated candidate for judge in Ohio.

Roosevelt and WPA
The last hasn't been heard of that $150,000,000 clipped from the President's $875,000,000 WPA budget by a margin of one vote in the Senate. He plans to toss the cut back into the lap of Congress, and may do it immediately after he signs the reduced appropriation bill.

Roosevelt is firmly convinced he has the popular side of the fight, that in the end he can lick Congress and make it fork over. He is ready to take the issue to the country.

His inner circle advisers are strongly for such a course. They are urging him to maintain WPA rolls at the present 3,000,000 level and to renew his demand on Congress for the money to do this. Other advisers counsel caution, telling Roosevelt to drop the matter for a while in order to let tempers subside, and submit a new request for the $150,000,000 when he returns from his Caribbean trip early in March.

The Administration's 47 to 46 defeat in the Senate was caused by (1) the personal grades of the group of Democrats Roosevelt tried to purge last year, and (2) poor floor leadership.

The Administration had the votes to win on the day before the final vote was taken. Senator Henrik Shipstead, Minnesota Farmer-Laborite who recently took Republican vows, also Senator Jim Davis, Pennsylvania Republican, and Senator Scott Lucas, Illinois Democrat, had been won over to the White House side. But overnight the anti-recaptured them.

Administration Floor Leader Alben Barkley, whose business it was to know this, had no inkling of it. An hour before the ballot he confidently assured the President he would win by a five-vote margin.

Note—Although he voted for the President's budget, Senator Tom Connally of Texas secretly was playing ball with the opposition. He told them that if they needed his vote he would switch and throw it their way.

power through the medium of buck passing, till we are worse off than before.

I think also we would make more headway by repealing the Social Security law. This merely complicates with the already established private insurance companies, and goes a step further by compelling everyone to take a policy. This is an infringement on individual liberty if I'm not mistaken.

Also until we stop compelling the employer to carry the entire burden of insuring his employees against accident, old people cannot compete on an equal basis with young people. Older employees should be willing at least to carry part of their accident insurance burden.

Since several critics have asked me what I think should be done to correct the present crisis, and have somewhat regarded me as an "anti-everything," perhaps the above stand may help to clear up the fog.

CONCERTS SET FOR FEB. 7-10

With the co-operation of Frank Henderson, superintendent of Santa Ana schools, the Santa Ana Federal Symphony orchestra will play another series of school concerts February 7 to 10, inclusive, at the following pivotal school points: Lathrop Junior high, Santa Ana high, Fremont and Willard Junior high.

The orchestra will play two concerts at Lathrop February 7, one at 1:30 p. m., which will reach the elementary grades of the Edison, Delhi, Lowell and Spurgeon schools, and another at 2:30 p. m. for the Lathrop Junior high school student body.

High School Concert
The Santa Ana High school concert February 8, also at 1:30 o'clock, will be played for pupils schools from McKinley, Muir and Roosevelt schools. On February 9 at the same hour, the orchestra goes to the Fremont school to play for pupils of Fremont, Franklin and Wilson schools. Two concerts are slated for February 10 at Willard, the first for the elementary pupils of the Hoover, Jefferson, Lincoln and Logan schools, and at 2:30 p. m. for the Willard High school student body.

"The beauty and inspiration of pure music is recognized as highly important to the growing minds of the nation's youth for the moral and spiritual benefits derived," said Leon Eckles, conductor. "The orchestra has been active in school work for the past three years, playing to thousands of students in the city and county schools. This phase of cultural training, embodied in programs of has been highly commended and, confirmed by the reception accorded the orchestra wherever it is heard, the concerts have become a popular part of the school program."

Programs Arranged
To familiarize the students with the character of the music they are to hear, Mrs. Hazel Hesselein, responsible for the program continuities of previous school concert, has written another descriptive introduction to the program numbers. This will be sent out in printed form to all schools prior to the concerts. The programs, in which full orchestra will participate, are all under Mrs. Hesselein's personal supervision. A demonstration of the percussion instruments will be made as part of the programs designed for the elementary pupils. The musicians will play each instrument individually.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS WORD PICTURES OF FAIR EXHIBITS

Word pictures of the many outstanding exhibits to be presented at the Golden Gate exposition that will be opened to the public on Feb. 18 were presented to members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club yesterday by George Clark, vice principal of the Van Nuys high school.

Twenty-two million people are expected to attend the fair during its 10 months of operations, Clark said, and the total cost of the exhibition will be in the neighborhood of $50,000,000.

How Idea Evolved
At the close of the exposition, the grounds and three of the present buildings will be turned over to the Federal government for use as an airport, Clark said.

In telling of the history behind the fair, Clark stated that the idea had been born when the junior chamber of commerce decided that the City of San Francisco needed a new airport. "Treasure Island" the site of the fair was built out of mud dredged from the Golden Gate bay and is one mile long and three-quarters of a mile wide.

James Tarpley, Santa Ana grocer who this week celebrates the 20th anniversary of the establishment of his store, was program chairman for the day. Lyle Mitchell presided.

PHYSICIAN TALKS AT LIONS MEETING

ORANGE, Feb. 2.—Dr. Merrill Hollingsworth of Santa Ana told Orange Lions' club members of the effects of coffee, tobacco and alcohol on length of life, at a meeting held yesterday at the Legion clubhouse.

"About 100 years ago the average expectancy of life was 33 years but now it has raised to 59 years," he said. "However, the average could be made much higher, if people would realize the importance the heart plays in the longevity of a person, and of the effect stimulants have on this organ."

"The heartbeat releases one foot pound of energy, and thus needs rest, which it gets between beats. The time amounts to about 16 hours out of the 24 that the heart rests. If we speed up the rate of beat (the average is 72 beats per minute) we get a tired heart, and a feeling of fatigue."

"Slow pulse rates seem to run in families, and people with slow pulses generally live longer. Coffee is found to be an accelerator in many cases, but tobacco is the worst offender."

Nicotine is absorbed through the mouth, whether one inhales or not, said the speaker and he cited instances where tobacco in its peculiar effect on the muscles of the blood vessels, had caused lack of circulation, cold hands and feet, even gangrene in the members due to lack of circulation. Angina pectoris is a disease whose victims are found to be smokers in 96 per cent of cases, he added.

Alcohol is more deadly in its effects of making slow reflexes, and as a contributing cause of accidents, but in itself, is less harmful on the human body in many cases than tobacco, the speaker declared.

The program chairman was Dr. Carl J. Paul, and Martell Thompson presided. Before the meeting he introduced James E. Donegan, who reported the Fresno convention of Lions clubs.

Mr. Donegan said that the five minutes' speaking contests in the clubs this year will be on the subject, "Service Clubs and National Life." Russell Caldwell is speaking, contest chairman of the local club. A speaking contest open to any high school student, will also be sponsored by the Lions clubs this year. Winners in both contests will be chosen first by the local club, then will be placed in an elimination contest at a county council meeting. The winner then will speak at the Group Two meeting in Santa Ana; and the winner at that time will speak for the group at the District Four meeting in June. A. E. Sipherd is chairman of the high school speaking contest.

WOMEN HEAR TALK ON HEALTH PLAN

Dr. John P. Davis, in a brief talk yesterday before a study class of the League of Women Voters, discussed a proposed plan for voluntary health insurance which is being formulated by the board of the California Medical association.

He explained the three main points of the method used in England where socialization of medicine has been in force for a number of years.

Dr. Davis emphasized the advantage of voluntary health insurance as being more democratic than when administered under compulsion, with the consequent loss of freedom in the choice of physicians.

Preceding the study class the board met in regular session with the president, Mrs. Felton Browning. Plans were formulated for a civic conference to be held the last week in March, details of which will be announced later.

At the next regular meeting of the league on February 17 Senator Harry C. Westover and Representative Clyde Watson will be the speakers.
